House Group Votes to Boost Dairy Supports

Override Benson
In New Farm Bill;
Faces Hot Fight

By United Press
The House Agriculture Committee today voted to raise price supports for dairy farmers by 6.5 per cent, effective, Sept. 1.

The committee vote was 22 to 6. Benson cut supports on butter, cheese and dried milk powder to 75 per cent of parity April 1 in a move to cut down huge surpluses. They had been at 90 per cent of parity.

The committee wrote the provision into its new farm bill which may provide one of the hottest fights in the current session. It pointed up sharp opposition among farm bloc members against President Eisenhower's plea for flexible instead of rigid-price supports which Benson backs.

New Method of Payments
Benson cut dairy supports in an effort to force consumer prices down and, through this channel, get rid of some of the mountainous surpluses held by the government. The committee wrote in another provision that would allow the government to use a new method of direct subsidy payments to support the dairy farmer's income. The government would pay the subsidies to processors who, in turn, would pay the producers higher prices.

Rep. August H. Andresen (R-Minn.), spokesman for the dairy bloc, said he did not know whether the provisions would increase consumer prices.

The farm bill stands as one of the major blocks to adjournment of Congress on July 31.

In addition to the farm bill, major issues still to be settled are foreign aid, general tax revisions, and appropriations bills.

Other developments:

FOREIGN AID: Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme Allied commander in Europe, told a closed session of the House Foreign Affairs Committee that military expenditures have not yet found a way to reduce Allied forces needed in Europe. His testimony was summarized by Chairman Robert B. Chipfield (R-Ill.).

PLEDGE: President Eisenhower signed into law a new pledge of allegiance to the flag which now includes the words "under God."

HUNT: Sen. Lester C. Hunt announced he will not run for re-election in Wyoming this fall due to doctor's orders. The Wyoming Democrat was viewed as a strong candidate for his party in one of the battleground states this fall. Republicans believed Hunt's dropping out of the race gave them a good chance of taking his Senate seat.

High Administration Officials Took Control Of Feud, Carr Testifies

WASHINGTON (AP) — High officials in the Eisenhower administration took control of the Army's developing feud with Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy last winter, Francis P. Carr testified today.

Carr, executive director of McCarthy's investigating subcommittee, said Army counselor John G. Adams told him March 5 "the matter had been taken out of his hands entirely."

He quoted Adams further as saying the dispute, then on the verge of breaking out publicly for the first time, was "a high policy matter."

In the 33rd day of the Army-McCarthy hearings, Carr went to the witness chair as a temporary substitute for McCarthy, who was resting up from a weekend speaking trip that took him flying to Wisconsin and South Dakota.

"Stop at Nothing"

In January, Carr said, Adams told him he would "stop at nothing" to block McCarthy subcommittee subpoenas for members of the Army Loyalty Board. This, he quoted Adams as saying, was "a high administration decision."

Then on March 5, Carr said, Adams told him bluntly "the matter had been taken out of his hands entirely, and was a high policy matter."

Carr testified that Adams constantly referred to Pvt. G. David Schine as a "hostage" and suggested Schine would get better treatment if McCarthy called off his Army investigations.

Carr also quoted Roy M. Cohn as saying Adams offered to "trade us some homosexuals in the Air Force" for an advance tip on where the next investigation of the Army would be.

Carr's sworn testimony on the 33rd day of the Army-McCarthy hearings supported in detail the McCarthy side's charges that Adams and Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens were at first very friendly toward Schine, but later used his presence as a private in the Army as a club over the McCarthy subcommittee.

Adams and Stevens have denied under oath both the general charge and many of the specific incidents which Carr, McCarthy and Cohn related.

Special Counsel Ray H. Jenkins said McCarthy would return later for more questioning.

Acting Chairman Karl E. Mundt (R-S. D.) served notice on all parties that he would insist they quit

School Officials To Seek Increase In Sales Tax

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—School administrators voted today to launch a statewide campaign to increase the Illinois sales tax a penny to bolster the sagging state aid for schools program.

A resolution calling on educators and all groups interested in education to petition legislators with requests for a sales tax hike was adopted at an "administrators legislative conference."

Legislative committees of the Illinois Association of School Administrators and of the Illinois Education Association sponsored the meeting.

Pennies Mean Millions
Lester R. Grimm, IEA research director, estimated a boost in the sales tax from two cents to three cents per dollar would bring an extra 100 million dollars a year.

Grimm said the school financial situation is becoming "desperate" and estimated another 33 million dollars will be needed in the coming school year just to maintain the present level of state aid per pupil.

To raise the "equalization" rate per pupil from the present $173 to the $230 level recommended by the Illinois School Problems Commission as a "foundation" program would require 120 million dollars more in the coming two years, Grimm said.

Formula Sets Aid
State aid is distributed according to a complicated formula which uses a $173 "equalization" figure. If a school district levies a certain tax rate to qualify for aid, the state makes up the difference between the amount raised locally and $173 per pupil.

The state's distributive fund for 1953-55 was 140 million dollars. Grimm estimated that if the same $173 equalization figure is maintained, 173 million dollars will be needed in the coming two years.

If it is boosted to $230 per pupil, it would cost 265 million dollars for the next two years, he said. The problem rises largely from a big increase in enrollments, expected to continue for several years. Even now, the state is unable to pay off current aid claims in full.

feuding before the television cameras. He clearly hoped by this warning to head off a threatened clash between Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) and Cohn over a "psychological warfare" blueprint drafted by Schine.

Weekend Brings Flurry
The hearings resumed after a flurry of weekend developments in which:

1. Cohn said firmly in New York that he will neither resign nor be forced to step down as McCarthy's chief counsel as a result of the inquiry because he has received wonderful support from the American public.

2. McCarthy predicted in Chicago that the hearings will end Thursday. He also insisted he has no "personal ill-feelings" for Army counselor John G. Adams, a principal in the dispute, but that it will be up to the Pentagon to decide whether he should keep his job.

Early Report Hoped

3. Jackson said today "an early order of business" after the hearings will be to vote on whether to keep the present subcommittee staff—including Cohn and Carr. He also suggested that the subcommittee report be issued before Congress adjourns. Mundt said he hopes it can be published in a month or less.

Heat Wave Bakes Most of Nation East of Rockies

By United Press
The worst heat wave of the season baked most of the nation east of the Rockies today and sapped the strength of advancing cool air.

The muggy weather spawned thunderstorms and a tornado in the Midwest, but they offered little relief from the heat.

Beaches were jammed over the weekend and drownings were numerous.

A twister ripped off the roof of a Trenton, Neb., grandstand Sunday, endangering 1,000 persons watching stock car races. Most spectators scattered before the tornado struck and none were injured.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Olson and their three children had the closest call when part of the grandstand landed on the car in which they were sitting.

A two-hour downpour dumped 3.65 inches of rain on Newton, Iowa, and freak storms lashed Indiana. One of the Indiana storms picked up a grain crib containing four men and a boy who had crawled in for refuge. The crib was hurled 500 feet, but no one was injured.

In the southwest gusts up to 30 miles per hour raised dust clouds in southeast Colorado.

Temperatures climbed into the high 90s in the nation's eastern two-thirds Sunday, hitting a record 95.1 at Chicago. Forecasters could see no definite relief today.

Wendell C. Lanton Receives Doctor Of Philosophy Degree at Northwestern

Wendell C. Lanton, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Lanton, Carrier Mills, will be awarded the Doctor of Philosophy degree at Northwestern university today. Lanton specialized in guidance, child psychology, and developmental and remedial reading.

A graduate of Harrisburg Township high school, Lanton received his Bachelor of Education degree from SIU and his Masters of Arts degree from Northwestern university.

Recently his work has been on exhibit in the city schools of Evanston, and he has exhibited his paintings in the Chicago Evanston Art center, St. Louis, Mo., and New York City, N. Y.

Lanton was one of 11 men recently elected to membership in Phi Delta Kappa, national professional education fraternity for men.

Prior to his appointment to teach in the Evanston public schools as well as supervise student teachers from the School of Education and the School of Music at Northwestern university, Lanton had taught in Saline county and Kirkwood, Mo. He is the brother of Mrs. James H. Lewis of this city and Mrs.

Mendes Named To Form New French Gov't

Indochina Peace
Advocate Accepts
Offer by President

PARIS (AP) — Pierre Mendes-France, an advocate of a quick peace in Indochina, agreed today to try to form the 29th French government since the end of World War II.

Mendes-France, leader of the forces that toppled Premier Joseph Laniel on Saturday, accepted an invitation from President Rene Coty to form a Cabinet.

The new premier-designate immediately began talks with political leaders to get the necessary support for confirmation from the badly-divided National Assembly, which voted no confidence in Laniel for his Indochina policies.

If the 47-year-old Radical Socialist leader fails, France once again faces the possibility of a long period without a government which could mean a death blow to the Geneva conference. The last Cabinet crisis before Laniel's appointment nearly a year ago lasted 36 days, during which Mendes-France was among those who tried and failed to form a government.

Has Many Opponents
Observers doubted that Mendes-France could win the support of the Assembly's warring political factions despite the urgency for agreeing on a new leader quickly. His drastic cures for the country's troubles have earned him many opponents.

Mendes-France got a crack at the post under the custom that prescribes the chief opponent of a fallen premier gets the first opportunity to try to succeed him.

Coty did not accept Laniel's resignation immediately after it was offered Saturday. The President, dealing with his first Cabinet crisis interviewed some 20 different party leaders and called in Laniel to put a formal end to his government only after talking with Mendes-France for one hour and 45 minutes.

One of the political leaders Coty talked with was Georges Bidault, a member of the Popular Republican party (MRP) and foreign minister in Laniel's cabinet.

Bidault told newsmen he will stay in Paris to await the outcome of the government crisis rather than return to Geneva, where he has been the chief French delegate in the negotiations with the Communists.

Mendes-France has repeatedly called for an end to the costly seven-year Indochina war and is known to favor direct negotiations with the Communist Viet Minh forces of Ho Chi Minh.

Flag at Lloyd L.

Flown Over U. S. Capitol

Today is Flag Day and flags are being flown throughout the country.

The flag at the Lloyd L. Parker furniture store is one that has flown over the United States Capitol. The flag was arranged for and sent here by the mother of Mrs. Richard Parker, Mrs. Pearl W. Norman of Washington, D. C.

Some delegates had felt a stand should be taken on these subjects. However, Gov. William G. Stratton and the platform-makers felt otherwise. There was no discussion of the platform on the convention floor.

The platform praised President Eisenhower for ending the Korean War, which it called "a conflict used by a socialist administration to bolster a sagging economy and to besmirch a great American soldier," apparently a reference to the relieving of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Stratton Gets Praise
The platform praised Stratton for avoiding tax increases, his road-building program, passage of a new driver's license law, and other matters. It pledged a study to see whether unemployment compensation rates should be "re-adjusted."

The convention nominated three candidates for University of Illinois trustees—Dr. Ralph H. Kuntz, Chicago; Vernon L. Heath, Robinson; and Maurice G. Gantzer, Marion.

Barrett was appointed to head the state insurance department in January, 1953, by Gov. William G. Stratton. He was a brother of former Illinois Atty. Gen. George Barrett.

Prior to his appointment he had practiced law.

Associates said he had not been ill recently but suffered a heart attack about three years ago and had been told to "take it easy."

Saline County Bar Ass'n Holds Memorial Service for Atty Combe

The Saline County Bar association this morning conducted a memorial service for a late member, Atty. Charles E. Combe, at which Atty. K. C. Ronalds, senior counsel of the association, delivered the memorial address.

The three circuit judges of this district—Clarence E. Wright of Carbondale, Harold L. Zimmermann of Marion and C. Ross Reynolds of Vienna—set on banc for the service, with Judge Wright, the judge for the June term of Saline county circuit court which started today, presiding.

Two dozen lawyers, mostly from Saline county but a few from Marion and Carbondale, were present for the service. Members of his family, his friends and county board members also attended.

Tell of Services
Atty. Ronalds told of the early life of the departed member, who died July 11, 1953. He told of his law associations here with the late George Miley, the late Walter Wheatley, and with Atty. DeWitt Twente.

He told of his patriotic services during World Wars I and II, and of his work in the Masonic lodge and with the DeMolay organization, of which he was "Dad" for 20 years.

He told of Mr. Combe's work as a lawyer during 42 years of practice here and stated:

"A member of a profession now more under the scrutiny of the critic than ever before, Mr. Combe by his long years of ethical and upright conduct as a lawyer did much to inspire confidence and respect in his profession."

Placed in Records
He was a diligent and hard working student of those branches of the law in which he was a specialist and was recognized by courts and government commissions as honest and able. His word was never questioned as to the truth."

Atty. Ronalds closed his address with a resolution which told of the loss to the bar association, to the family and to the community and resolved that a copy of the resolutions be spread on the permanent records of the court.

By order of Judge Wright, the resolutions will be placed in the permanent records.

Atty. Joe M. Butler, president of the bar association, who introduced Mr. Ronalds, also read a letter from Atty. W. C. Kane, who has ceased practicing. The letter, which said he could not be present for reasons of health, declared that Mr. Kane always had held a high regard for Mr. Combe because of his ability and his ethical conduct.

State Insurance
Director Robert
E. Barrett Dies

CHICAGO (AP) — State Insurance Director Robert E. Barrett died today of a heart attack.

Barrett, 45, died unexpectedly at his home.

Friends said he had been "feeling fine," and he attended the Republican State convention in Springfield Saturday.

Barrett was appointed to head the state insurance department in January, 1953, by Gov. William G. Stratton. He was a brother of former Illinois Atty. Gen. George Barrett.

Prior to his appointment he had practiced law.

Chicago Motorists, Pedestrians Slow to Comply with Test

By United Press

Three make believe atom bombs were dropped on Chicago today but some motorists and pedestrians ignored the civil defense test.

In Chicago's "loop" most traffic came to a halt but some vehicles, including trucks, cabs and busses, were slow to comply.

Pedestrians were supposed to seek shelter and many did, but some ignored the drill.

The mass air raid drills were part of a nationwide operation. Chicago was one of 49 major cities to be hit by imaginary attacks and East St. Louis, Ill., was to be affected by a "raid" on St. Louis.

Chicago's make-believe attack also included the seizure of the Chicago River bridges by saboteurs, an explosion at the Illinois Waterway and an attack on the 78th Street plumbing plant.

The massive drill was directed by a staff of 100 with headquarters in Soldier Field.

County Board Approves Funds For Two Roads

Bar Committee Asks Supervisors to Reverse Court Room

The Saline County Board of Supervisors held its regular June meeting today and approved appropriation of motor fuel tax funds for construction of two roads in the vicinity of Harco.

They are the Bank Lick road, running two miles west from the Pink Boyett home, and a road from the Boyett home south to Harco.

These are federal aid secondary roads with the county paying half the cost. The estimated cost of the Bank Lick road is $54,000, of the other $70,000, with the county paying half of the stumps plus engineering fees.

The board today gave Chairman William Smith the authority to fill vacancies on the Saline County Housing authority, the Saline County Tuberculosis board and the Saline County Welfare Service committee.

It also accepted the annual report of the Tuberculosis board and a Child Welfare Service report from May 1 to the present date.

Grant Applications
Applications of the Starlite theatre between Harrisburg and Eldorado and the Harrisburg Drive-In Theatre for July 4th fireworks displays were granted.

The board heard a committee from the Saline County Bar association request that the court room be reversed, with the judge and jury seating in the south end of the room instead of the north. The board directed its building committee to meet with a bar association committee and try to arrive at some cost figure.

Spokesmen were Atty. W. W. Dameron and Atty. D. F. Rumsey. They pointed out that there would be more privacy for judges and juries if the room fixtures are turned around. There are several rooms back of the south end of the room and besides giving more privacy, there would be less confusion, the spokesmen stated.

The board recessed shortly after 10 a. m. to hear the memorial service for the late Charles E. Combe in the court room, then returned to the supervisors' room to continue with its business.

Death Takes Rev. John L. Peppersack Of Carrier Mills

Rev. John L. Peppersack, 64, well known minister in this area, died Saturday at 10 p. m. at the veterans hospital in Marion where he had been a patient for several weeks.

A son of the late John and Susie Peppersack, he moved to Carrier Mills around four years ago. He was a veteran of World War I and a member of the Carrier Mills Baptist church.

He is survived by his wife, Susie; three daughters, Betty and Imogene Peppersack, both at home, and Mrs. James (Patsy) Dunning, Carrier Mills, and one brother, Barney Peppersack.

The funeral will be Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Carrier Mills First Baptist church. The pastor, Rev. Ernest Ammon, will officiate, and burial will be in the Salem cemetery.

Palbearers will be Jess Pritchett, Frank Pritchett, John T. Morse, Joyce Martin, Otis Gibbs and Hillis Matthews. The T. E. L. class members will be flower girls.

The body was taken from the Miller funeral home to lie in state at the family residence on Trammel street.

Eisenhower Hurries to White House Shelter

New York Defense
Workers Clear Times Square in 70 Seconds

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower hurried into the White House air raid shelter today to take refuge from a fleet of imaginary atomic bombers attacking the United States in the biggest civil defense drill since World War II.

Mr. Eisenhower, who was working at his White House desk when the alert sounded, got up immediately and walked quickly with members of his staff and hundreds of White House workers to the underground shelter. He was joined there by Mrs. Eisenhower.

The chief executive and ranking member of his staff have working quarters in the shelter. During the drill, they worked at their desks and tested telephone, teletype and short wave radio facilities linking the shelter with the outside world.

Clear Times Square

Simultaneously, civil defense workers in New York set a record by clearing Times Square within 70 seconds after the sirens sounded. The operation, in which some 3,000 persons were directed into shelters, was carried out in 30 seconds less time than was required at the last test.

In the realistic New York exercise, passengers boarding a Northwest Airlines plane for Seattle were quickly disembarked and sent to shelter at Idlewild Airport; judges, attorneys, witnesses and defendants at the Federal Court house in Foley Square were escorted from courtrooms into corridors shelter areas.

The "attack" by more than 400 hypothetical enemy bombers was presumed to have struck 41 major cities in the United States and eight in Canada. In many of the target cities, however, the drill was confined to a staff exercise for civil defense workers.

Mobile Ousts 26,000

Most ambitious program of public participation was in Mobile, Ala., where 26,000 persons were to be evacuated from the downtown area to the outskirts.

In Pittsburgh, police halted traffic and streets were fairly well cleared despite the fact that the siren system did not work ideally and some sections of the city did not get the alert.

Although Mr. Eisenhower interrupted his office routine for about half an hour to participate in the drill, congressional leaders said House and Senate members were too busy to take part. The Army-McCarthy hearings and other congressional activities continued without interruption.

At the Pentagon, nerve center of the U. S. armed forces, Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson and other top officials went to a protected "command post" deep underground in the vast building.

GOP Antitrust Division is Just as Tough as Predecessor
By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Antitrust division of Department of Justice has been under criticism lately for what has seemed to be a large number of cases settled by consent decree. The inference has been drawn that business monop-olies were being let off easier than in past administrations.

The box score on handling of an-trust cases by the Republican administration does indicate a higher proportion of cases settled by consent decree than by trial and judgment in recent years. But there have been some factors in this situation which have not been too apparent. They provide the basis for a possible counter-claim that administration of the antitrust laws is just as tough, or maybe a little tougher than it ever was.

It has been a little over a year since Judge Stanley H. Barnes of San Francisco was sworn in as assistant attorney general in charge of the antitrust division. He instituted several new policies aimed at getting his docket on a more current basis.

1400-Acre Project
Council members expect to propose legislation that will help finance the outdoor education camp, but other funds will be needed for Council operation. Through associate memberships for clubs, organizations, private concerns, and individuals the Council is offering opportunity for investing in 142,592 school-age children, the area's future citizens.

Mrs. Schaller said the proposed outdoor education project would cover 1400 acres of land in the heart of a million acres of some of the Midwest's most beautiful and natural scenery. The site lies between two inlets at the south end of Little Grassy Lake in the Shawnee National Forest—land under jurisdiction of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Little Grassy Lake is 10 miles southeast of Carbondale, and three miles northeast of Giant City State Park.

Out-of-Doors Classrooms
Here in the mild southern Illinois climate, school children from grades four through high school would take turns moving their classrooms out-of-doors for on-the-spot study of conservation, biological sciences, physical education, health, and social studies. Other subjects such as music, dramatics, and art would take on added zest as study was returned to its natural setting where children have been found to learn faster and often much better.

Actually "School Camp, U.S.A."
would serve as a natural laboratory in which classroom work would be supplemented and expanded in relation to natural resources which include many interesting geological structures, hundreds of historical sites, numerous major streams, and such educational focal points as abandoned strip mines, emphasizing the need for rebuilding soil.

Study Farm Problems
In other words, says Mrs.
Schaller, "School Camp, U.S.A."
would compensate for that part of modern day living which has deprived children and youth of natural opportunities to share in group work experiences, to gain understanding of conservation education needs, and to develop outdoor recreational skills."

Students would learn about the importance of soil to our American economy and would become acquainted with farm problems.
Practically speaking, the camp
"farm" would reduce much of the food costs and other related expenses of the camp.

Reforestation, a national problem and a particular concern in southern Illinois, would furnish the basis for another work project.
This is an activity in which the campers would be helping an entire area. They would participate in forest fire fighting, forest fire control, shore line clearing, and drainage and erosion control.

Natural Areas
However, building, as such, would be kept at a minimum. To fulfill its purpose, it would be essential for the camp to retain its natural flavor. Boys and girls are intrigued with the dramatic. So the camp would make use of this wholesome instinct and develop the site around picturesque American history themes.

For instance, one area, "The Indian Village" would be spotted with tepees and shelters. Another would represent the pioneer period in America's development and have cabins for shelters. Still another area would feature dwellings made of native stone and rough-cut lumber to depict the intermediate period of American growth.

One area would be called "The Survival Area." After some reforestation this tract of land would be left as it is. Here the natural growth would always be respected and undisturbed so that experienced campers might venture into its wilderness for periods of one to five days. They would carry supplies and necessities in pack-sacks and build their own temporary shelters from the native material within the area.

Group Complains of Free MBC Time for McCarthy Friends

WASHINGTON — A non-profit organization, headed by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt has announced it will complain to the Federal Communications Commission that the Mutual Broadcasting System has given too much free time to friends of Sen.
Joseph R. McCarthy.

The National Issues Committee, which describes itself as a non-partisan educational association, said MBS has given the "Facts Forum" organization permission to produce two other free-time programs—"State of the Nation" and
"Reporters Round-Up."

One of "Facts Forum's" heaviest financial backers is Texas oil millionaire H. L. Hunt, a friend of the Republican senator from Wisconsin.

In a letter to Herbert C. Rice, MBS vice president, Executive Director Don Pryor of the National Issues Committee said MBS's action raises "the question of serious imbalance in programming from a public interest point of view."

MBS officials said they could not comment immediately on the alleged imbalance of time.

When spectators at the Shrine Circus at the Harrisburg Fairgrounds Wednesday see Bobo Barnett, famous buffoon, climb from his midge car they'll probably see the country's biggest clown emerging from the smallest auto in which an adult can ride.

The car, built in Wichita, Kansas, according to specifications of the clown, is smaller than some toy autos made for children. It has an electric motor with two forward speeds and a reverse, loud horns, lights and pneumatic tires.

Bobo, who is Chester Barnett of Los Angeles, not only drives the car, but has a number of passengers, a trumpet and a large suitcase. The passengers are his dogs and a pet skunk, Sweetpea, which has been deodorized. The big Californian, known as a producing clown, one who builds feature routines, has been a clown for 32 of his 46 years.

Ably assisting Bobo is a congress of the nation's funniest clowns, including the Bentleges, Grover O'Day, Slim Collins, Jack Harrison, Henry Boers, Arden Beecher and a score of others.

Young Officially Wins Control of NYC Railroad

ALBANY, N. Y.—Robert R. Young, an ex-Texas cowhand, won control of the multi-billion-dollar New York Central Railroad today, ending a bitter proxy fight among some of the nation's most powerful financial giants.

Official results of the balloting by some six million share-owners was announced by railroad officials at a special stockholders' meeting. President William White, who represented management in the financial tug-of-war, said there would be no court contest of Young's victory.

Young and his new 15-member board of directors won by more than a million votes. The vote was 3,407,512 to 2,340,239.

The outgoing president said Young's victory represented a financial coup engineered by the Texan and his wealthy friends. White said he had no regrets about the fight and losing his job because he had been battling for principles.

State Dep't Urges Withholding Aid From France, Italy

WASHINGTON (UP)—The State Department urged today that foreign aid be withheld from France and Italy until they ratify the European Defense Community.

Asst. Secretary of State Livingston Merchant, in charge of European affairs, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, however, that chances of French ratification of EDC are "excellent" despite the fall of the Laniel government in France.

The assailants were identified as Harry Edward Dalzell, 21, Middletown, and Ronnie Clouser, 17, Darrington.

Knowland Lists Chief Threats To Adjournment

Senate Leader Believes Congress Can Quit July 31

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland listed legislation dealing with farm price supports, foreign aid and atomic energy today as the chief threats to Congress' July 31 adjourning target.

He told reporters, however, that he has seen nothing yet to justify moving back the date, although some Senate leaders believe they will be lucky to wind up by mid-August.

Bernard M. Shanley, President Eisenhower's counsel, charged Sunday night that "a planned slowdown" by Democrats is holding up the administration's program.

He said they have voted "almost solidly" against the major portions of the program and, where there have not been votes, there has been "a definite, a planned slowdown."

Similar Charges Denied
Shanley made the charges in a radio interview. Similar remarks he made several weeks ago touched off a wave of angry Democratic denials and then GOP efforts to clam the storm.

The Senate is well ahead of its normal schedule on appropriation bills and it is the pace at which these measures move which largely determines the length of congressional sessions.

Among the major money bills, only foreign aid appropriations is lagging. The House, which acts first on appropriation bills, cannot start to move that one until the basic legislation authorizing foreign aid appropriations for next year is passed.

Indo Crisis Not Involved
Knowland was asked if the Indo-China crisis and possible Senate debate about it might endanger the adjournment target.

He said he doesn't think it will and that the bill is more likely to cause extended debate are those dealing with foreign aid, farm price supports and atomic energy.

The debate on the atomic energy bill may be averted, he said, by compromises reached within the House-Senate Committee which is working on the measure.

Besides the appropriation bills, the next major legislation on the Senate schedule is the administration tax reform bill, which is not expected from the Finance Committee for more than a week.

Plans Announced
For Racing Program
Here on July Fourth

Fans at the Saline county speedway Saturday night saw a fine racing program—undoubtedly the best of the 1954 season.

The track had been well sprinkled to keep down the dust and was just slick enough to cause the cars to slip and slide all over the curves, giving the fans plenty of thrills, but there were no bad spills.

Doc Heilig of Harrisburg captured the time trials in 21.40 and also was first in the handicap tag event, a heat race and also the 25-lap feature.

There were several cars making their first appearance on the local speedway and one of them, the 65, driven by John Wargel of Equality, topped the semi-feature.

Track officials have announced plans for a big July 4th holiday racing program. As there will be no other racing nearby on that Monday night, it is expected that many drivers competing at other speedways will be in Harrisburg for the program. This will be in addition to the regular Saturday racing—giving the fans an extra evening of their favorite sport.

There also will be a big fireworks display on the July 4th program.

Results of Saturday's program: Time trials, Doc Heilig in the H3, Glen Gibbs in the 97 and Phil Trammel in the Gassy 1.

First heat, Leonard Grisham of Eldorado in the 7B Jr., Glen Gibbs, Doc Heilig.

Second heat, Bill Fulkerson in the HG2, Eddie Hancock in the K-7, Lynn Morris in the V8.

Third heat, Jerry Brinkley in the 12, Jim Alexander of Energy in the 6 and Bill Hosick of Norris City in the 163.

Handicap, Doc Heilig, Phil Trammel, Eddie Hancock.

Fourth heat, Doc Heilig, Phil Trammel and Sam Brinkley in the 65.

Semi-feature, John Wargel of Equality in the 65, Leonard Grisham and Glen Gibbs.

Feature, 25-laps with 14 cars starting, Doc Heilig, Eddie Hancock and Jim Alexander.

A stir of surprise and wonderment swept through the crowd when the ambulance was called to the pit area just after the semi-feature was completed and there had been no spills during the race.

It was announced a youth, sitting on the fence, had fallen and scrapped his back on the bumper of one of the cars. After first aid was administered the boy was pronounced okay, the ambulance returned to its regular spot and the feature race started shortly thereafter.

Mayfield Beats
Merchants, 6-1

The Harrisburg Merchants failed again to come out of the doldrums Sunday afternoon as they dropped a 6-1 decision to the Mayfield, Ky., Black Hawks at the Park diamond.

For the third straight time, the Merchants outthrew their foes but came in on the short end of the scoring.

Gene Trammel was on the hill for the Merchants and he doled out only five safeties in going the route but some erratic support and a few bases on balls kept him in hot water all afternoon. Meanwhile, "Lefty" Hartsfield, a fast curveballer, was tagged for eight safeties by the locals to no avail as his teammates came through with an assortment of dazzling plays afield to take him off the hook the few times he was in trouble.

Bill McNew, Merchants' man of all positions on the baseball field, kept up his torrid hitting pace as he blasted out three straight hits to again pace the losers' impotent batting attack. McNew had six straight safeties and a walk in his last seven appearances at the plate before finally going down via strikes. Jim Parton collected two safeties for the Merchants while Dick Romanosky, Frank Logsdon, and Lou Elms collected safe blows to add to the losers' total.

Mickey Stubblefield paced the winners with two for two and Hartsfield collected two for four. Rowland got the only other hit for the Blackhaws.

"Showboat" Patterson caught for the visitors and entertained the fans with some fancy catching and acrobatics.

Dick Romanosky was behind the plate for the locals all the way.

Next Sunday the locals travel to Herrin for a game and the following Sunday local fans will get to see "Big Jim" Bumpus and his Kentucky Cardinals when they come in for a return match with the Merchants.

Dodgers, Giants, Cardinals
Win 2 Each; Haddix
Is First to Win 10 Games

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer
This is flag day, and it was no coincidence that the Dodgers and Giants were thinking more about the National League banner than the one which Betsy Ross stitched up for George Washington 177 years ago.

Both teams came roaring home out of the West with climactic doubleheader victories on Sunday which left them tied for first place. The Dodgers won 11 and lost three and the Giants had a 10-2 mark in the hinterlands, and both now settle down for long home stands against the same western clubs they pounded into submission.

Brooklyn trailed, 4-0, at Cincinnati in its opener Sunday but pulled out a 6-5 triumph on the margin of three-run homers by George Shuba and Gil Hodges, then pounded out 17 hits for a 14-2 victory in the second game. Junior Gilham, Duke Snider and Rube Walker hit homers in that one.

The Giants wound up on a similarly high note at Chicago. In the first game with the score tied 3-3, they exploded for six runs in the 11th inning for a 9-3 victory, then won the second, 9-4. Davey Williams' second double of the day drove in what was to be the winning run in the opener.

In the second contest, Don Liddle won his first game as a Giant with relief help from Hoyt Wilhelm.

Indians Hold Lead
In the American league, Cleveland took a game-and-a-half hold on first place with 4-1 and 8-1 victories at Boston while second place Chicago divided with the Yankees, winning 8-0 after losing 4-2 on the margin of Gene Woodling's three-run homer. Baltimore topped Washington 6-4, then lost 4-0 when Bob Porterfield shut them out with six hits. The A's won two from Detroit, 4-3 and 6-3, for a four game winning streak, their longest of the year. In other National league games, St. Louis twice defeated Pittsburgh, 5-0 and 5-3, and Milwaukee drubbed Philadelphia, 9-5.

Early Wynn pitched his seventh victory for the Indians in the opener, striking out seven. Wally Woodling hit a homer for the winners.

In the second game, Mike Garcia was credited with his eighth victory, although he developed a finger blister and had to have two innings of relief help from Bob Hooper.

Woodling hit his first game home-

Nash Nine Drops
9 to 2 Tilt at Uniontown, Ky.

The Nash baseball team traveled to Uniontown, Ky. Sunday and dropped a 9-2 decision.

Frank Skinner, the Uniontown hurler, formerly was the property of the Washington Senators and bled in high classification minor leagues. He allowed Nash but four hits, retired 19 on strikes and walked no one.

Jack Nolen started for Nash, but left after two innings with a sore arm. He had allowed four hits, five runs and walked three.

Miller relieved Nolen and pitched the remainder of the contest, giving up seven hits and four runs.

K. Nolen, Karnes, Shewmake and Miller each had a blow for Nash while Waggoner and Jenkins paced Uniontown with three hits each.

Skinner was the big show of the game. His pitching featured a blistering fast ball, a good curve and a nice change up. His control was superb and his 13 innings he had a no-hitter. Henry was the catcher for Uniontown and Wilson did the receiving for Nash.

Nash will hold a practice session Friday at 5 p. m. at Miners Field.

Giant Air Raid Drill

whether any simulated use was made of the secret "underground Pentagon" that has been built under a mountain on the Pennsylvania-Maryland border. This would be used if the real Pentagon should be knocked out in a raid.

In New York, trading on the floor of the Stock Exchange was suspended for half an hour as some 1,800 members and employees hurried to shelter.

Hundreds of imaginary bombers were presumed to have approached the country with atom bombs from a route over the North Pole.

Make Believe Damage Widespread
In spite of the alert, it was assumed all 41 targets would be put out of commission at least temporarily. Officials estimated that a make-believe fire in Washington would cause 287,000 deaths and 400,000 serious injuries.

All these things were set in motion by an ominous message received by Civil Defense posts a few minutes before the "warning red" was sounded.

"Strong movement of unidentified aircraft penetrated U. S.-Canadian border, heading south."

The message marked the official start of the days of "Operation Alert" affecting 41 target cities Canada, two in Alaska, and one each in Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

In addition to the 400 imaginary bombers, the Civil Defense Administration assumed enemy submarines would launch guided missiles on Tampa, Fla., Honolulu and San Juan.

Water Restrictions
Are Continued by Carrier Mills Board

It was announced today by a member of the Carrier Mills Municipal Water board that restrictions on the Carrier Mills water supply must continue.

When Carrier Mills began pumping water from Blue Bird strip lake, west of Carrier Mills, it was thought that the reservoir would be replenished, therefore permitting taking off restrictions, but recent rains have not provided enough water to do this.

Carrier Mills residents are asked to use water only when necessary and are asked not to wash cars or sprinkle lawns.

STREET ROD

by Henry Gregor Felsen

Copyright 1953 by Henry Gregor Felsen. Printed by arrangement with the publisher, Random House, Inc. Distributed by NEA Service.

THE STORY: Ricky Madison, 16, wants a "hot rod" because several of his friends have cars they have rebuilt. Against the advice of his parents, he withdraws his savings from the bank, where his father is cashier, and offers to buy a junker from a disreputable dealer for $65.

III

Merle Connor scratched his unshaven chin. He had Ricky in his pocket now. The thing was to keep the price down to what he was sure the kid would be able to pay. It could go up a little more. "Well," Merle said reluctantly, leaning against the coupe, "Sixty-five was the cash price. On terms, it would have to be $75. Book work and all that stuff. And I think that other feller might be back with a cash offer of $65. The one I told you about. I imagine he'll go up another five. Sure would like to see you have it, of course, but I can't just give you $10, can I?"

"I guess not," Ricky said. All he knew was that he had to have the car before it was bought out from under him. "I guess I can do it for $75."

"You won't regret it," Merle said, taking Ricky's $50 and tucking the bills in his overalls. "Clean that car up a little and you can probably turn right around and sell it for a hundred."

Ricky followed Merle into the garage where he signed to pay the remaining $25 in 25 weeks, and the deal was over. It was Ricky's car. Merle took an ignition key from the nail where it had been hanging, and handed it to Ricky. "She's all yours," he said in a tone of relief. "Don't drive too fast, now." Chuckling at his own joke, Merle went into the large part of the garage where he had a flat tire to fix.

Ricky looked at the tarnished key in his hand. He felt different. Like he'd come to Merle's garage a kid, and suddenly turned into a man. He wasn't a kid any more. He had a car. He'd caught up with the other guys. He was as big and as independent as anybody... even his father. The difference between a kid and a man was something you had to discover for yourself.

When Ricky walked out of the garage toward his car, he noticed things that had escaped his attention before. Now that he had $50 in the car and owed another $25, he saw for the first time that the tires were so bald the cord showed in patches on two of them. There was a sag to the left that suggested a broken spring, and an appearance of being out of line that indicated the car had been wrecked, and maybe had a sprung frame.

He climbed in the car carefully, wiping his feet on the grass outside before placing them on the filthy floorboard. He held the key tightly between the thumb and forefinger of his right hand, and his hand trembled as he inserted the key in the ignition lock. He turned the key, shoved in his clutch and kicked the starter.

It wouldn't start.

Merle looked out of the garage. "What's the matter?" he yelled. "Can't you start?"

"She won't catch," Ricky looked hopefully at the mechanic.

Merle strolled toward the car with maddening slowness. He poked his head inside and looked at the dash. "For one thing," he said laconically, "you're out of gas. I had about a gallon in the tank, but I guess one of your friends must have took it."

"Gas," Ricky said, feeling like a fool. "Yeah."

Ricky felt in his pockets. Not even enough for a gallon. He'd hoped Merle would offer to fill the tank for free, as a gesture in honor of the purchase, but he was afraid to suggest that generosity to Merle.

"How about adding a dollar's worth to my account?" Ricky asked, trying to sound casual.

Merle hesitated. "Well, all right," he said, reaching for the hose.

Ricky got back in his car with a feeling of relief. Once was all he'd need of Merle's cheap gas. After this, he would be getting the best ethyl gas from one of the good stations, and after that, he'd be burning his own fuel mixture.

This time the car started. Ricky let it idle a moment to warm up. Also to give himself time to get up nerve to put the car in gear and drive away. It wasn't that he didn't know how to drive. He'd driven his friends' cars enough to have confidence in his ability. He didn't know where to go.

A happy inspiration struck him. The lake!

He started the car, driving toward the lake. In low gear he tromped on the gas pedal, tearing the insides of his car as his wheels spun in the loose gravel. In second he held it wide open, trying to find out how fast it would go in that gear. Thirty-nine! A miserable, crawling, creeping, shuddering, wavering 39!

The car kept trying to leap off the left side of the road, but he gritted his teeth and fought it back. Another turn came up. Turns were frequent on this back road. He glared at it as though it was a personal enemy. This time like a race driver!

He hit into the turn with inertia in full contempt of his attempts to pull his front wheels around. Because he could slide he didn't roll, but he was sliding toward the ditch, his hands glued to the useless wheel.

He felt his wheels leave gravel for grass. The rear wheels touched first, were slowed, and the front end of the car slammed around to head toward the fields. Momentum carried the car forward, throwing Ricky from side to side as the coupe left the road and headed into a shallow, broad ditch. (To Be Continued)
